This permaculture farmstead in Western Montana's Bitterroot Valley offers self-guided tours, weekly social events, farm-fresh goods and two first-class, cabin-style homes available for unique farm stays and vacation rentals. ABC acres focuses on sustainable food production, healthy living systems and regenerative ecological design. Their cattle, chickens, goats, turkeys and pigs graze on open pasture, eating, resting and living the way nature intended. Much like ABC's livestock family, their vegetables, herbs, fruits and nuts are grown with the same approach. There's a mix of annuals and perennials intertwined with pollinator species, companion plantings and multi-structured food forests. Conveniently located just a few miles south of Hamilton, a short walk to the Bitterroot River and bordered by picturesque farms and public lands, ABC acres provides an idyllic combination of wide-open spaces, wildlife and outdoor adventure, and is just minutes from in-town happenings and amenities. Be it fishing, hiking, boating, golfing, skiing, wine-tasting, dining, rock climbing or hot air ballooning, ABC acres is within reach.
